Kia ora GEPS whānau

Tuatahi we hope you are all doing as well as can be expected under the circumstances. We know that the extension of Level 4 was not the news that anyone wanted. Hopefully we can stick to the rules a wee bit longer and drop levels next week.

This week is Te Wiki o Te Reo Māori. There are loads of resources that have been sent home for your tamariki and lots that the whole whānau can learn together. There are also lots of activities on this website: www.peomaori.co.nz Kia ora to Whaea Monica who has organised our GEPS learning for Te Wiki o Te Reo Māori. We look forward to seeing what you all get up to over the week.

Mahi will continue online as it has been since we went into lockdown. Many kaiako are taking separate maths and reading group classes so watch out for those invites. It has been great to see so many tamariki online. Not nearly as good as in person but nice all the same.

Over the last few weeks Takahē team have had special zoom sessions with an educator from the Napier Aquarium and have learnt a few more facts about certain species, including sharks. Use this time to research things you are really interested in.

Again we want to reiterate that there is no “right” way of doing home learning. Please do what is best for your tamariki and your whānau. This is a small amount of time in the whole of a learning journey throughout the schooling years. Hopefully soon, we will all be back at school and learning together.

Stay safe GEPS. All of the staff are really missing seeing you!
